Will Fight for "Fundamental Principle" of Collective Bargaining, Stated

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—A "finish fight" between the railroads and their employees over the issues of collective bargaining seemed inevitable today, as railroads prepared to announce wage reductions for laborers and the heads of railway labor unions marshaled their strength for a bitter fight to prevent wage cuts.

Railroad executives today had definitely rejected collective bargaining as a method of arriving at wage scales. The plea of B. M. Jewell, president of the railway department of the American Federation of Labor, for a conference to discuss rules and working conditions was flatly rejected by the American Association of Railway Executives.

Jewell, Frank P. Walsh, general counsel for the railway brotherhoods, and other union leaders have emphatically declared that they will fight until "the fundamental principle" of collective bargaining is accepted.

Railroads throughout the country today are reported to be preparing to post notices of wage reductions affecting certain classes of employees, chiefly unskilled laborers and track workers. Employees are expected to object and the dispute automatically will come before the Railway Labor Board on the controversy between the individual roads and its employees.

2 Bandits Taken,
But Loot is Gone

(International News Service)
MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 19.—Buck Allen and Robert Ford, alleged accomplices of the bandit who held up and robbed the mail car of the Northern Pacific railroad's North Coast limited train, near Bailey, Minnesota, last night were arrested at Little Falls early today after a running gun fight.

One of the alleged bandits and an officer were wounded. None of the registered mail taken has been recovered.

Railway mail service officials today refused to make an estimate of loot taken in the robbery, but unofficial estimates place its value at approximately $100,000.

New Organization of Women Born

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—A new campaign for "equality between men and women" was launched here today by women who were formerly militant suffragists. The National Woman's Party disbanded as a suffrage organization last night. Today the party reorganized to further equality of women and to campaign against legal disabilities of women.

Miss Alice Paul, for several years the chairman of the National Woman's Party, refused to accept office in the new organization after having passed out of office with the dissolution of the old organization last night.

BOSTON, Feb. 19.—High tribute to Sergeant Ernest J. Trutner, of Service Company, Thirteenth Regiment, is paid in the current issue of the "Camp Devens Bayonet." Sergeant Trutner, known to regimental associates as "Pie," is the dean of the regiment in point of service, and "the oldest young man in camp." He enlisted in the Thirteenth in 1900, and has been on duty with that outfit ever since.

The name Trutner is a tradition with the Thirteenth Regiment, Sergeant Trutner's father and three brothers having seen service under its colors.

Mr. Cagle also was requested to commandeer 65 extra chairs for use in the dressing rooms.

REPORT DECLARES
HITE MAY GIVE UP TO THE OFFICIALS

Orian Hite, sought by Limestone county officers in connection with the shooting to death of Powter Lewis, will give himself up, according to a report reaching the office of Sheriff Puryear, it was stated in a long distance dispatch to The Daily from Athens today.

Officers spent yesterday searching the vicinity of the killing, in the Mooresville neighborhood, but were unable to find a trace of Hite. Bloodstains were followed and led to a theory yesterday that Hite might have been killed.

Later reports to the Limestone officials declared Hite possibly was wounded in the neck, but that fact has not yet been established, it was said. Relatives of Hite were said to have told officers they did not know whether the man was wounded or not.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—"No navy can control the sea without holding the control of air and undersea," Rear Admiral Fullam, retired naval officer, told the Senate naval affairs committee today, considering naval appropriations.

Fullam said it would have been better to have stopped the naval building program in 1914. "The war disclosed that the battleship could do nothing against the submarine. I do not contend that battleships should be scrapped, but they must be supplemented with air and undersea crafts."

Erzberger Tells of Coming of Ellis Loren Dressel to Germany

By FRANK E. MASON

(Copyright, 1921, by the I. N. S.)

BERLIN, Feb. 19.—Dr. Erzberger, former minister of finance, former leader of the Centrist party and author of the famous "peace resolution" in the Reichstag during the war, declared today that President Wilson promised Germany American credits if she would sign the peace treaty.

In the spring of 1919, according to Dr. Erzberger, President Wilson sent Ellis Loren Dressel from Paris to Berlin as secret messenger. It was thru Mr. Dressel Berlin secured its first information as to peace conditions.

Mr. Dressel said he was instructed by President Wilson to come to Berlin and that he wished to explain, in behalf of Mr. Wilson, how hard the President had labored to secure a just peace for Germany, Dr. Erzberger said.

"Then Mr. Dressel outlined the original French claims and told in detail how President Wilson had succeeded in having them moderated. Dr. Dressel explained how former Premier Clemenceau insisted on outright annexation of the left bank of the Rhine by France. Mr. Dressel said President Wilson wished to express the hope that after all he had done for Germany that Germany would not throw him down or leave him in the lurch by refusing to sign the peace treaty."

"It was said that the Americans realize that the United States must help in rebuilding Germany and that if Germany signed the peace treaty, President Wilson would use his influence at Washington for the purpose of securing credits for Germany."

Mr. Dressel is the American commissioner in Berlin.

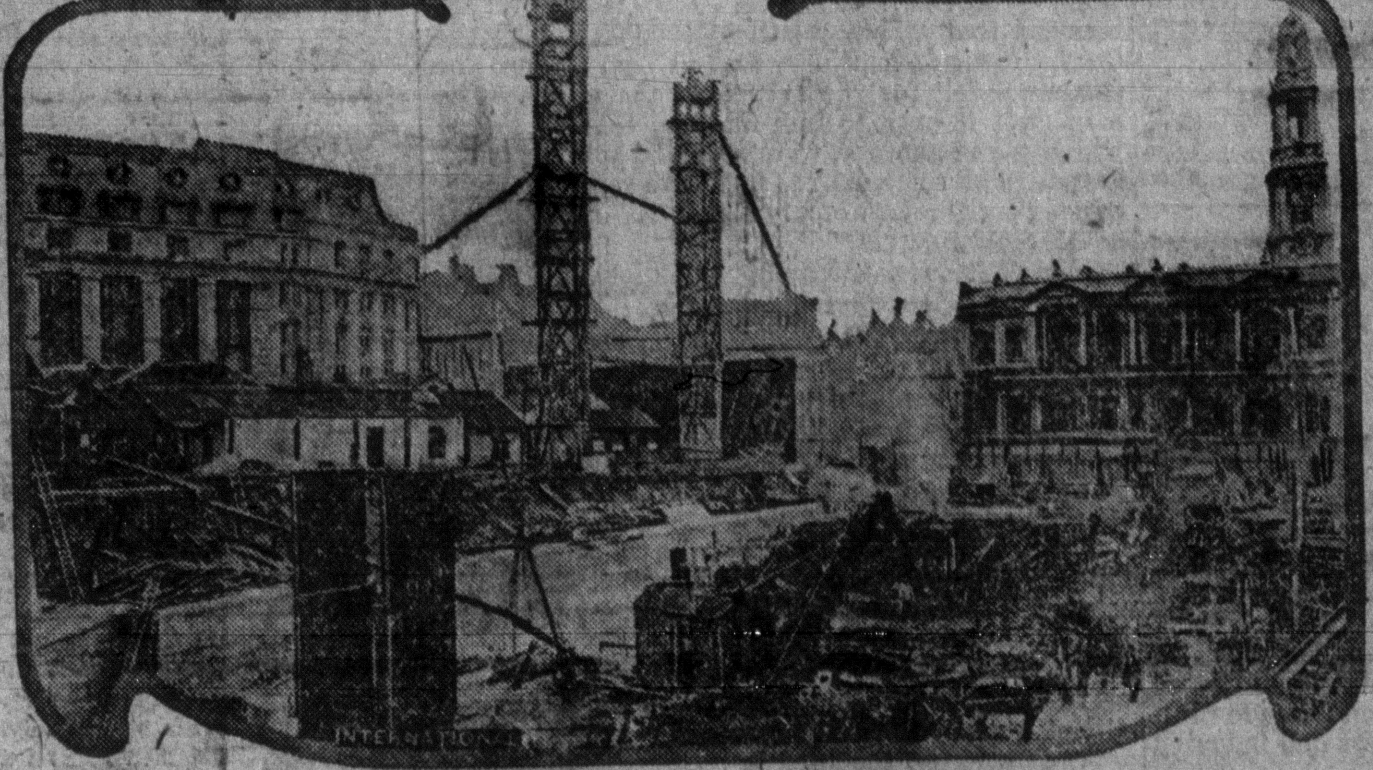

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—The White House today refused to deny or affirm the statement by Dr. Erzberger that President Wilson had promised Germany American credits if Germany signed the treaty.

"The White House ignores absolutely the statements of Dr. Erzberger," Secretary Tumulty said. "The White House has no comment to make one way or the other."

Steel construction has already been started on the structure, which when completed will represent an investment of $10,000,000. It is said to be the largest single building enterprise undertaken in London in 20 years. The picture was taken at the Aldwych end of the site, looking toward the Strand, and shows the famous church of St. Mary le Strand, to the architecture of which the new Bush building will conform.

UNION OBSERVES ANNIVERSARY OF FRANCES WILLARD

According to the yearly custom of the Twin Cities Woman's Christian Temperance Union, the birthday of Frances E. Willard, the founder of that union, was celebrated last night. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. W. R. Smith.

Mrs. C. W. Black, president of the local Woman's Christian Temperance Union, presided and called the program of exercises. Devotional exercises led by Dr. C. C. Davison, pastor of the First Baptist church of Decatur, a vocal solo was given by Miss Carolyn Cartwright, Mrs. T. M. Dix playing the accompaniment as she did for the other songs of the evening.

Mrs. Black, who had heard Miss Willard speak in Montgomery when the former was a girl, told the audience present of some of the things she heard Miss Willard say, and her impressions of the great leader. Mrs. Black also read a paper prepared by J. E. Blair, who had heard Miss Willard over thirty years ago in Greensboro, N. C.

Others were asked to tell anything of special interest they could recall concerning Miss Willard.

"How Still She Stands" was the title of a beautiful reading by Mrs. Lloyd Knight. The poem recited was suggested by the white marble statue of Miss Willard, which the state of Illinois chose to represent the state in the national capital Hall of Fame. In the poem Miss Willard was spoken of as standing calm and unafraid in the heart of the nation; as at the center of true civilization, as viewing the future, and as secure in the hearts of the children of the future. Mrs. L. J. Whitley, dressed to represent Miss Willard's statue, gained much praise for the splendid part she played.

The principal address of the evening, was delivered by Miss Ellen Groen-dyke entitled "How to Win a Million Members." The children were represented by Maxie Speake and Elizabeth Blair, both of whom did their parts well. Mrs. L. J. Whitley sang an inspiring vocal solo. The remainder of the evening was given over to a social gathering, light refreshments being served.

SOLDIERS' BONUS UP TO NEXT CONGRESS

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Means of providing a cash bonus for ex-service men and women will be left to the new Congress, Republican leaders made clear today. Upon the ability of the new Congress to hit upon a plan to raise sufficient revenue to finance a cash bonus will probably hinge its ultimate fate.

All that will be done at this session, it was indicated, will be to authorize a cash bonus and other means for compensation for ex-service men and women as provided in the House bill passed last session and leave the rest to the new Congress.

Republican leaders admitted they did not see how a cash bonus could be provided for by the new Congress without taxation being increased. They have decided, however, to permit the question of means to go over until the next administration and seek to have Congress only act favorably on the method of payment now.

FLY ERADICATION
URGED BY COUNTY HEALTH OFFICIAL

By DR. B. F. AUSTIN
County Health Officer

Of all the natural enemies to man, the fly is unquestionably the greatest. Only in the last few years has it been possible for us to convict this insect of the many crimes and misdemeanors of which it is guilty. We now know that flies, instead of being harmless insects, to be considered only when they invade our food supplies, are in reality highly dangerous, and that a single fly may be responsible for the development of typhoid fever or other illness of a serious nature. Among the diseases that may be transmitted by the house fly are typhoid fever, diarrhoea, dysentery, bowel complaint, cholera and probably tuberculosis, diphtheria and scarlet fever. It is also believed that the eggs of the tapeworms, hookworm and round worms may be carried to human beings by flies.

To successfully fight these diseases, it is necessary that we take measures to eradicate the fly. In order to eradicate this insect we must first do away with its breeding places. Stables should have tight floors and be well cleaned. The manure should be removed at least once a week and placed in fly-tight bins or boxes; another solution to this problem is afforded by the treatment of manure piles with substances which destroy the larvae. Substances must be used which are not too expensive. Borax may be used at the rate of one pound of borax per 10 bushels of manure. Powdered kerosene, using one-half pound to 10 gallons of water and applying this amount to each eight bushels of manure is also very effective in the prevention of fly breeding.

If we are to successfully combat this disease-carrying pest, we must of necessity begin early in the season to go after all forms of filth, placing it where the adult fly cannot reach it.

The statement, "No filth, no flies, less disease," is true and if everyone will realize this to the extent that he will prevent the access of flies to filth, we will have gone a long way toward the elimination of this dangerous pest.

MONTGOMERY, Feb. 19.—Coffee county tax books for the past three years were stolen from the courthouse in Elba after 11 p. m. Friday night, according to a report received at the capitol Saturday.

to Justice

(International News Service)
BIRMINGHAM, Feb. 19.—Sil Cowan, former chief deputy of the state law enforcement department under Conrad W. Austin, who resigned from that department a few weeks ago, gave out a statement here this morning in which he declares he was given instructions by Chief Austin to "have your men beat hell out of them (the leaders and organizers of the mine workers and others who were participating in the strike in the coal fields of the state) every time you catch them out. Arrangements have been made to take care of you so you will be gotten out of trouble and if you are fined, your fine will be paid."

Mr. Cowan said, in giving out his statement, that he had waited long enough and that he wanted the people to be informed.

Touches Lynching Case
Touching on the lynching of William Baird, Mr. Cowan in the statement says when he brought Leslie West and Private Springer to Birmingham to the headquarters of General Steiner after Springer had confessed that the General said to him: "You have no evidence against these men. They ought to be released."

"I agreed with him and told him I would not release them," continued the statement. "General Steiner informed me that he had sent the Townley detachment from Tuscaloosa under command of Captain Loller. I said to him, 'if you want to cover this thing up you have done the very best thing you could have done.' I protested to Mr. Austin against the action taken by General Steiner."

"I told Mr. Austin that if the efforts to cover up the guilty parties was not thwarted at once I would resign and go to the press with it. I started to write my resignation. Mr. Austin assured me he would go down the line with me and it was his intention to get the guilty parties, regardless, and I must say his efforts have seemed earnest and sincere."

Mr. Cowan asserted he had been before the grand juries in Walker and Jefferson counties, that he had held back nothing and that he wanted the truth to be known.

TED RYAN, FRESH FROM IRELAND'S
WAR AREA, IS HERE

Ex-soldier in the British Empire, member of the army of the Sinn Fein and world traveler, Ted Ryan has arrived in the Twin Cities to make his home.

Despite experiences of a lifetime crowded into his youthful years, Ryan smilingly declares his greatest present desire is to "settle down here."

Ryan recently arrived in this country, working his way over as did Lord Mayor O'Callaghan of Cork, on board an incoming steamer. He is a naturalized citizen and declares he cannot be touched by the British authorities, but laughingly stated they had offered a reward of $50 for his capture.

When Cork Burned
Mr. Ryan stated he was one of those who fought the fire which threatened to destroy Cork some time ago. He talked interestingly also of the burial of Terrence McSwiney, dead Cork Lord Mayor who starved himself to death rather than partake of the food offered him in a British prison.

"When McSwiney was buried, the Sinn Fein guards of honor followed the body," Mr. Ryan stated. "We were in full uniform and carried rifles. Had there been the slightest disturbance, I am sure there would have been very serious consequences," he said. "The situation was tense."

BRITISH CRISIS

The brief speech King George V. made at the opening of parliament, amid ancient pomp meant to sustain a modern fiction, was prepared by his ministers as all speeches from the throne are, but it was the government of Great Britain that spoke. It gave plain indication of the crisis through which the nation is passing, and the worst of its troubles, it was said, is unemployment.

Unemployment means stagnation of business and industry from which many evils may come. That stagnation comes in part of bad European conditions generally, and also internal conditions in the British empire. Disturbances in Ireland make that part of the United Kingdom dead to either trade or industry. Communism manifested in the radical creed of the Labor party made capital afraid to venture and all business and industry are in that way greatly hampered.

It is much to be desired, in this country that Great Britain may in some way soon rid her troubles and again on the road to peace and prosperity. The desire comes not as a matter of sentiment, but because of the very intimate trade and financial relations between Great Britain and the United States. The largest and best market for our wheat, our cotton, our meat exports and many other commodities is in Great Britain.

In times gone by the United States has been dependent on London banks for money when our supply was short in this country, and much British capital was invested here. American securities were at one time largely held in Great Britain. That condition is to some degree reversed now, but Great Britain owes us something more than five billion dollars, loaned her by this country to aid her in financing the war. That debt should be collected and it is not to this country's interest to have Great Britain forced into revolution and bankruptcy.

It is earnestly to be hoped that she will come safely through the troubles that beset her.—Nashville Banner.

THE CENTER OF POPULATION

The announcement from Washington that the United States' center of population is now located in the extreme southeast corner of Owen county, Indiana, some eight miles south of the town of Spencer, serves to recall the interesting stages by which the republic's "star" of "empire" has taken its westward way.

In 1790, a year after President Washington's first inaugural, the population center stood twenty-three miles of Baltimore. A decade later it was eighteen miles west of that city. Shortly after the war with Mexico it was twenty-three miles southeast of what is now Parkersburg, West Virginia; at that time the Old Dominion was still a single state. By 1860 the center had reached a point twenty miles south of Chillicothe, Ohio; and by 1870 was forty-eight miles east by north of Cincinnati. It was in 1890 that Indiana was reached, the center then standing twenty miles east of Columbus. In 1910 the city of Bloomington in that state boasted of being the population hub. Now this distinction has passed on, for a season, to the countryside of Owen county.

It is instructive to trace these stages on the map noting the distance of each. These distances vary considerably, the shortest being fourteen and six-tenths miles in the decade from 1890 to 1900 and the longest fifty-eight and one-tenth in the decade from 1870 to 1880. The total advance, exclusive of that in the period from 1900 to 1920 exact figures on which have not yet been published, is approximately five hundred and sixty-three miles.

Ahead of this westward moving center have gone the sturdy pioneers, conquering a wilderness, building towns and cities, developing rich mines of treasure, bringing forth harvests that have gladdened world cherishing democracy, strengthening America and civilization. A wonderful advance it has been, yet more wonderful are the expansion and unfolding still to come. The population center has not yet reached the Mississippi. Beyond that river and in the fertile south, as well, lie empires of opportunity yet unharmed and but slightly explored.—Atlanta Journal.

A HUMAN LIFE—
ONLY TEN DOLLARS!

The committee having in charge the relief of the starving children in Europe had a problem of 6,000,000 children on their hands. This committee has in a measure made it possible for two and a half million children to get along to a point where their relatives can care for them. In the meantime there are 3,500,000 children left in Eastern and Central Europe who are absolutely starving and who will die of starvation unless the committee continues to function.

To get money to keep these children is the object of the campaign now going on all over the United States. The head of this movement is Mr. Herbert Hoover, the man who has given his time, heart and mind to work of a similar nature since the outbreak of the great war in 1914. Mr. Hoover knows better than any other man how to make a dollar go farthest. All of the money contributed will go direct to the purchase of food in this country and other things necessary to keep these children alive.

The expenses of the campaign in America have been provided for by Mr. Hoover out of the profits from other activities. The other relief agencies are so impressed by the vital importance of what Mr. Hoover is now trying to do that they have suspended all activities pending this campaign and have united with him.

We are informed that the bulk of the contributions made in and around this city have come from people in moderate circumstances. We would respectfully suggest that those who are well off in the world's goods give serious attention to this matter and make a contribution corresponding to their ability to give.

Once there was a Quaker. A man asked the Quaker for a donation and the Quaker gave the man a check for $100. At that moment the Quaker received a telegram. The telegram announced that a ship worth $1,000,000, which the Quaker owned, had been lost at sea. Then the Quaker asked for the return of the check. The man gave it back to him and the Quaker said, I will give you another, whereupon he told his book-keeper to give the man $1,000. He said, "I am reminded by the loss of my ship that everything I hold, I hold in trust."

Think it over.—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

ALBANY TO CURB THE CHICKENS

The city administration at Albany, Alabama has taken a step which may cause some trouble, but which is bound to do a great deal of good and to prevent, perhaps, even greater dissatisfaction than its adoption has done.

The Albany council has ruled against the running at large of chickens or other fowl inside the corporate limits of that city. Explaining it, the Albany-Decatur Daily says:

Under section 3 of the ordinance, the finding of prohibited fowls upon premises not belonging to nor under the control of the owner of the fowl is considered prima facie evidence "that the owner thereof allowed such chicken, goose, turkey, guinea, duck, or other like fowl, to run at large in violation of section 1 of this ordinance." Violators of the ordinance will be punished under section 1216 of the Code of Alabama, it was stated.

The chicken question is rather a delicate one in many neighborhoods. Some want to keep chickens and to allow them to run at large. Others want to make gardens and to have flower beds. Chickens and gardens form a combination which is extremely hard upon the temper of the owners thereof. And yet, the production of each should be encouraged.

Under the Albany plan, by which it is made obligatory upon the owner of the fowls to prevent them from running at large, the neighbors who have chickens can live in peace and harmony with those who are cultivating gardens and flowers. It is a happy solution of the question. Might it not be tried with propriety in Gadsden?—Gadsden Evening Journal.

A TRAIN OF THOUGHTS FOR SABBATH AND OTHER DAYS

By J. E. Blair

We are in the midst of the Lenten season, began on Ash Wednesday, and will end at Easter time. We are apt to think of Lent as the dark hour before the dawn. We are apt to think of all sorrowful seasons as times we wish to get away from. We wish to drink only from the cup of happiness. We get our comfort from the promise that "joy cometh in the morning," and ignore too much the value of the "weeping which may endure for the night." But, without controversy, if we accept the Christian creed, we must welcome sorrow as well as joy. We must not forget that if we would reign with Christ, we must also suffer with Him. We must not fault ourselves too grievously, however for being inclined to think that sorrow is an intruder and has no part in the divine scheme. For the beautiful mythology of the pagan Greeks, which makes mere happiness the END of life, has for centuries covered our Christian religion like a garment. We have been taught—"Be good, and you will be happy."

This part truth, of course, does not work out in actual life. Sorrow comes alike on the just and the unjust. The Pagans spoke of the gods as "the happy gods." We know that the very God we worship, was "a man of sorrows and acquainted with grief." "The happy gods" of the ancients, make no appeal to Christian people. We believe in a God who is touched with deep feeling for our infirmities! We believe in a Savior, who was tempted in all points, even as we are, but blessed thought, He was without sin! We know that the Bible says of Jesus that He learned obedience through the things that He suffered, just as we learn by experience to keep our lives away from the things that will hurt us.

We know that if the martyrs suffered, so must the God who inspired them. We believe that the servants is not better than the Master, and that if He drank of the cup of bitter sorrow, so much we be willing to do likewise. As God gives us grace to do so, we must suffer with no more complaint or remorse than He did. Some have suggested that possibly, the religions of Confucius, Buddha, and such great teachers, contained all that Christ's religion contains. It is true, that those great men did teach many things that Christ taught. They taught loyalty, truth and righteousness. They taught of a Supreme Ruler of perfect beauty, of mysterious perfections, and of limitless energy and power. But such teachers did not one time claim that their gods suffer! Such gods may offer you place and power. The Christian Supreme Being offers you nothing but a chance to serve and suffer with Him. He denied James and John seats at His side and asked them if they could drink of the cup of sorrow.

In fact, the chief distinction between the Christian and other religions is that sorrow is accepted as a part of true life, by the followers of Christ and rejected by others. We believe that the school of sorrow is divinely set up. We believe that disappointment keeps us out of ruts, and that hard discipline makes for perfect freedom, power over evil, and finally helps accomplish the peace of God.

We believe that the Bible writer was speaking of all the redeemed, not of just a class, when he said: "These are they that have come out of great tribulation, and washed their robes, and made them white in the blood of the lamb."

STORK POTPOURIS
TRIAL IN COURT

(International News Service)
WORCESTER, Mass., Feb. 19.—"I don't know whether it will be a boy or a girl, but I have to excuse the jury and call off the trial for the day," said Judge Webster Thayer in superior court. "The wife of District Attorney Edward T. Esty is at the hospital. We expect glad tidings at any hour."

Spectators smiled when they learned of the unusual cause for adjournment of the trial of Oscar and Hugo Willgerodt, father and son, jointly charged with arson in the setting of the Slater building fire.

THE GIRL ON THE JOB

How to Succeed—How to Get Ahead—How to Make Good

By JESSIE ROBERTS
CHANCE WITH POULTRY

WHEN a woman wants to earn money and doesn't know how seven times out of ten she will decide that the thing for her is poultry. She decides to raise chickens.

And after a while, with her money spent and more experience than she will know what to do with for years to come, she parts from her chickens, those that are left, and goes to some other and as far away as possible place, deciding to clerk in a store or wait in a lunchroom rather than ever see a live chicken again.

But women do make a success with poultry, and they are among the happiest and healthiest and most satisfied women in America. The life outdoors with the pretty birds they raise, the feeling that they have a home of their own and are their own masters, and the genuine interest of the work are all factors in this result. But the young woman who turns longingly toward chicken raising, especially at the prevailing prices for eggs and poultry, needs to stop, look and listen.

If she can afford the time and money, a two-year course in some agricultural school or college will be a fine thing. But she can do without this. She can get excellent books on the subject, and if she looks about a little she may be able to get some practical experience on a poultry farm. One summer would be a great help if so spent.

Successful raisers agree that it takes four or five acres of land and about five hundred pullets to make a start. The same experts say that it requires at least 2,000 chickens to make a good living. This means plenty of work, especially in the hatching season. With that number on a well-managed ten-acre lot a girl can count on a fair income. She can supplement her profits by keeping pigeons, that are also a good investment when you know how to handle them, and further by having a healthy little settlement of hares and rabbits for the market.

By that time she can afford a diver and begin to buy some baby bonds. (Copyright.)

When he received the story of Tex Rickard's plan to build an arena and stage the Dempsey-Carpenter bout in New York over the wires of the International News Service, Mr. Hopley promptly ordered a pair of the best seats available by special delivery. This was the first order for seats following Rickard's latest announcement.

AMERICA IN NEXT TEN YEARS WILL HOLD FUTURE OF RACES OF THE WORLD IN HER HANDS

By NEWTON C. PARKE,
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

PARIS, Feb. 19.—President Harding goes into office March 4 confronted with one of the most difficult tasks that ever faced any American executive, declares Claude Berton, well known French writer, in a striking article in the current issue of Le Monde Nouveau.

Chief of all the problems the new President must meet is the attitude of the United States toward Europe and toward Asia, writes Berton. He fears that "imperialistic ambitions" may lead America to turn her back upon Europe and seek not only markets but manual labor for her industries in Asia, intermingling yellow and white races. Summing up, he declares:

"America is face to face with a formidable responsibility. In the next ten years she is going to hold the future of the races of the world in her hands."

Berton summarizes the American Presidential campaign, America's attitude toward the League of Nations, her controversies with England and the rapidly with which she is pushing her naval construction. He adds:

Future Market in Asia

The underlying thought of all the great American capitalists is to find in Asia a market for their goods, conceiving the possibility of Europe going bankrupt or half-bankrupt. They know very well that it is easy to create new wants among the people of Asia, which is at the same time an inexhaustible reservoir of labor. For several years the American financiers have been harnessed to the organization of a consortium of banks in China. Today they believe they have this project well along the way toward realization. The imposing mass of their capital will give them financial control of the country.

"The United States has today a Government bank, the Federal Reserve. The President and the Secretary of the Treasury hold the reins over this powerful organization. In what measure and in what fashion will they use it to further political designs in Asia?"

"Europe should have no illusions about the situation. All present efforts of the United States tend toward the creation of new outlets where they can plant their methods and their agents, liberating themselves from commercial relations with

COPIES OF BRIEF ON BOND AMENDMENT ARE COMPLETED BY ATTORNEY GENERAL

Contentions of State Are Presented to Attorneys for Appellant

WATER RATE HEARING NOW SET FOR MARCH 11

Postponement Requested by Jno. B. Weakley, President of the Company

(Montgomery Bureau Albany-Decatur Daily)

MONTGOMERY, Feb. 19.—Copies of the brief of Harwell C. Davis, attorney-general, and other attorneys interested in the state's side of the bond issue case were filed with attorneys for the appellant, A. M. Johnson, today and they will determine whether or not they will prepare a brief in opposition to a rehearing of the case and the reversal of the decision which was against the validity of the twenty-five million dollar bond issue.

Judge F. Lloyd Tate, member of the firm of Steiner, Crum and Weil, which made the attack in a friendly case, stated that a thorough study will be made of the state's brief before determining whether or not there will be a reply. Judge Tate and other members of the firm have been in the unusual position of attacking an act which they desire upheld. They were requested to bring the contest in order that the legality of the bonds might be established. Bond buyers would not purchase the issue until the supreme court had validated them. When the case reached the supreme court it held that the constitutional amendment was not legally adopted.

Copies of the brief were prepared for all members of the supreme court and it became known during Friday that the court would give minute consideration to every argument raised in support of the application, even though the arguments may have been considered when the case was before it on appeal. Sufficient time will be given the other side to study the state's brief and prepare a reply, before any effort is made by the court to reach a decision on the application for rehearing.

In compliance with the requirements of the new utilities act, the Alabama Power Company today asked the Public Service Commission for certificates of convenience and necessity permitting the installation of the 15,000 horsepower generator unit now being constructed at its hydro-electric plant at Lock 12 on the Coosa river and for the construction of transmission lines from Roanoke to LaFayette and from Auburn to Tuskegee.

The installation of the new unit at Lock 12 was begun last summer and will be completed about August 1. The transmission lines have been finished but were not completed when the new utilities act became effective.

Reports published in afternoon papers Friday that Governor Kilby had ordered the withdrawal of the Alabama National Guard from the coal strike district caused Governor Kilby to issue a formal statement late Friday that no such order had been issued and that "so long as life and property are threatened with destruction or injury the troops will not be withdrawn." By way of emphasis the executive's statement had the words "not be withdrawn" underscored.

Governor Kilby was unable during the afternoon to obtain information as to how the report was started. However, he did declare unequivocally that whoever started it did so without any basis in fact for it.

Some persons in Alabama don't care for their own money. They paid their income tax to the state last year under the law which was held to be invalid and to this good date have made no application for reimbursement. Information at the state treasury today was that $7,788.16 is being held for persons who paid it. A person may obtain the full amount he paid by making application to the state treasurer or state tax commission.

The inauguration of Spright Dowell, former state superintendent of education, as president of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute at Auburn next Thursday will attract persons from all sections of the state and the Western Railway of Alabama today announced

YOU.

TO EACH of us comes a day like this one now and then. A day when all the mists of old enwrap the soul again. Last night, a smile upon my lips, I gave myself to rest.

Today awake by ancient ill, by hurts of old, oppressed. I know not why these shadows come, these shades of vain desire. I do but know they creeping come to sit beside the fire.

And earth is but an empty place, and Joy has flickered out. And faith has fallen by the hand, assassin hand, of doubt. I only ask in such an hour, when such shall come to me.

I only ask in such an hour that You are there to see. I only ask in such an hour I need but stretch my hand. And know that it shall feel the hand of You, who understand. (Copyright.)

(International News Service)
ST. LOUIS, Mo., Feb. 19.—Two young bandits today held up a woman in the heart of the St. Louis industrial district, beat her with their fists and escaped with $10,000. The woman was taking the money to her husband, a saloon-keeper.

Devilish Overcame Whale.

According to some naturalists, the squid, or cuttlefish, is the principal food of the sperm whale. But apparently the game is not always one-sided. There is told a thrilling incident of a huge sperm whale rolling on the moonlit surface of the sea enveloped in the mighty coils of an octopus. Bullen, who witnessed the fight, is of the opinion that the devilish was far larger than any of which even fragments have yet been handled by man.

COTTON MARKET STEADY AT DECLINE

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—The cotton market opened steady today at a decline of 13 points to an advance of five points. Near months proved relatively easy, affected by weakness in foreign exchange, liquidation by longs and selling against purchases of the later months.

Trading was only moderately active with the lists fairly steady on week-end coverings.

Spot firms and Southern wire concerns were sellers of old crop options.

GOOD HEALTH HINTS

Oklahoma Farmer Gives Sound Advice on Avoiding Sickness.—
Used Black-Draught 30 Years.

Cameron, Okla.—"I have used Theodore's Black-Draught for about thirty years, and certainly ought to know by this time what a good medicine it is," says Mr. T. L. Bostler, a well-known farmer of this place. Mr. Bostler has passed his three-score-and-tenth year, but declares his health still is good, "and I can say Black-Draught did its part."

"Where there is a lot of malaria, a liver medicine is a necessity, and I have never found one better than Black-Draught," continues the Oklahoma farmer. "It is one that I know to be reliable. I use it for the liver, stomach, constipation, indigestion, and it has done me a world of good. We use it for the family, and it gives satisfaction."

"Most trouble, or sickness, comes from the liver, and if taken in time can be avoided. That is why I use Black-Draught as I do. I am much pleased with results obtained."

Theodore's Black-Draught is purely vegetable. It acts on the bowels, gently stimulating the liver, and helps increase the normal flow of bile into the intestines. It assists in the digestion of food, and relieves constipation in a prompt and natural way.

Ask your druggist for a package to day. Insist on Theodore's. NO. 12

There are many cases on record of professional fasteners doing without food for 40 days. Some few years ago a French soldier, Corporal Desrats, fell into an old mine-shaft near Bresle, France, and was unable to get out, for 25 days, and that without a morsel of food or drink. Yet at the end of that time he was able to call for assistance, and when got out, could tell his story. With proper care he completely recovered.

GLENN R. STEPHENS WILL FACE A JURY IN HAMILTON COURT ON MONDAY AFTERNOON

Little Marion County Capital Prepares for Second of Soldier Hearings

STATE'S EVIDENCE NOW SUBJECT OF INTEREST

One Hundred Jurors Have Been Summoned for Service Monday

By FRED H. GORMLEY—

MONTGOMERY, Feb. 19.—(Special)—Sergeant Glenn R. Stephens of Company M, Alabama National Guard will be placed on trial at Hamilton on Monday afternoon on an indictment charging complicity in the lynching of William Baird in Walker county. Stephens will be the second of the nine national guardsmen to be tried and the eyes of the people are again turned on the courthouse in the little inland town of Marion county, where Sergeant Robert J. Lancaster heard a jury tell the Marion circuit court two weeks ago that it had been unable to decide from the evidence whether he was innocent or guilty of being a member of the mob which removed Baird from the Walker county jail and shot him to death early the morning of January 13.

Leslie West, taxicab driver of Townley, who has been held in jail under no charge, is expected again to be the state's most important witness, but there is much speculation as to how the state will support his testimony. In the trial of Lancaster, West testified that a party of national guardsmen rented his car the night of the lynching and that he drove it toward Jasper without knowing the purpose of the soldiers, but that he did not participate further than in the driving of the car to the jail. Two witnesses, Guy Cannon and Clyde Springer, guardsmen, testified that Lancaster pointed to himself when one asked who fired the first shot and again pointed to himself when another soldier read about one member of the mob warning a prisoner in the jail that an outcry would be the last for him.

New Evidence Expected

All the testimony in the Lancaster case cannot apply to the Stephens case and many persons are wondering what additional evidence the state will furnish in its effort to prove the guilt of Stephens. Judge Horace C. W. is special counsel for the state, and asserted that the testimony in the Stephens case will be as strong as that in the Lancaster case.

The defense in the Stephens trial is expected to plead an alibi as it did in the Lancaster case and to furnish testimony to show that Stephens was in bed in the barracks at Townley when Baird was taken from the jail and executed beside the road leading from Jasper to Carbon Hill.

One hundred jurors have been drawn from the jury box of Marion county for the trial and have been ordered to Hamilton for Monday. Judge T. L. Sowell, who will conduct the trial, will go to Hamilton on the noon train Monday and the first session of the court will be held at 1:30 o'clock Monday afternoon. Witnesses from Montgomery will leave here Sunday morning and afternoon.

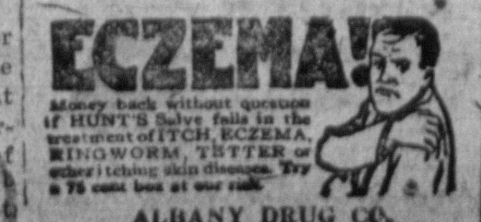

To Last a Week

The case is expected to continue, practically all of the week, though it is probable some evidence offered in the Lancaster case will not be offered in the Stephens case, thus shortening the trial somewhat. Unless the state changes its plan, it will seek to start the second trial of Sergeant Lancaster as soon as the Stephens case is concluded. The state contends that Lancaster and Stephens led the party to the Jasper trial and planned the execution of Baird, that Lancaster drove the "captain's car" which was an important figure in his trial and that Stephens rode beside West and directed the movements of this car which followed the captain's car to and from the jail.

Alabama will see the same array of counsel for the state and defendant as it saw in the first trial. Judge Wilkinson will be the leading prosecuting officer for the state and will be assisted by W. C. Davis, attorney of Jasper, and J. M. Pennington, circuit solicitor. The defense will be represented by Senator A. H. Carmichael of Tusculum, Cecil Gray of Jasper, Ernest B. and Keith V. Fite of Hamilton, Fred Jones of Hamilton, Fleetwood Rice of Tusculum, Judge Bernard Harwood of Tusculum, John McTear of Tusculum, and Mr. Findley of Tusculum.
